WILL IMPROVE

EAST BLAIRMORE

Last week a contract was entered into, whereby Dr. Olivier and Company, who have secured a number of cottages at Frank, are moving some to Blairmore to be placed on vacant lots in the east end of the town. The contract has been secured by E. Wolstenholme, of Bellevue, for the moving of twenty cottages of four and five-room denominations. These will be taken up as soon as ready for occupation, many families awaiting them.

We understand that other parties are becoming interested in the undertaking of Dr. Olivier and the great demand for housing, and it is expected that considerable of the vacant lots of the town will be filled in before the end of the year.

Blairmore at the present time is overcrowded to the extent of about forty families and with increased prospects for labor for the next few months or so there is every possibility of other families moving in, provided housing can be secured for them.

Blairmore's population has increased so rapidly during the past three years that any town of its size in either Alberta or British Columbia.

DR. STONE'S BODY FOUND; MRS. STONE RECOVERED ALIVE

BANFF.—The dead body of Dr. Stone, president of Perdue University, Lafayette, has been found at the foot of a deep crevice in the Rockies. Mrs. Stone has been discovered alive at the foot of another crevice nearby. She is not seriously injured and will recover from the terrible shock of the Mount Ron tragedy. Word was received here Tuesday evening at police headquarters in a very brief letter from the guides at the search party, Mrs. Stone was found Sunday at the foot of a 17-foot crevice and the dead body of Dr. Stone was discovered at that time a great distance below in a very difficult position for recovery. Dr. Stone is well known throughout the United States and Canada and his death, while anticipated today, will be a great shock.

CHIEF OF POLICE IS REINSTATED

Council Declines to Endorse Action of Mayor.

A rather interesting meeting of the Blairmore town council was held on Tuesday night last, when the main feature for discussion was the action of Mayor McLeod in issuing an order suspending James M. Carter, chief of police. A large number of ratepayers had gathered and it appeared that little or no sympathy outside the council itself was with Mayor McLeod's decision. The meeting was presided over by Chief Carter on the day following election day, in the campaign of Wallace Sharpe in opposition to A. M. Morrison, for whom the mayor was a henchman, had led the public to feel that party politics were entering into municipal affairs. Councillor Bartlett took up the cause for reinstatement, declaring that the action of the mayor was not justified on the ground stated, that Chief Carter had not performed his duties as chief of police in the enforcement of municipal by-laws or resolutions, and that action if any might reasonably have been left over for a few days till this meeting of the council.

In defense of the mayor's action, Councillor Gillis unraveled certain very pointed paragraphs from a recent issue of The Enterprise and challenged authority for their statements. These were replied to in the order as called.

Reference was made to rumors widely circulated throughout the town to the effect that the chief of police had accepted hush money, graft and bribes totaling into large figures from various sources, which Councillor Bartlett claimed could not be proven (even by certain affidavits that had been taken out), and was doing anything but justice to the integrity of Mr. Carter; and that if reinstatement was to be made, it should be backed by a clean sheet, ridding the atmosphere of all rumors circulated detrimental to the interest not only of the chief of police, but to the town at large.

In reply to Mr. Gillis' request for reasons for the statement that "there were no greater need for a clean up and reform," Mr. Bartlett replied in support of the statement that the atmosphere of all rumors circulated detrimental to the interest not only of the chief of police, but to the town at large.

L. H. Putnam addressed the council, asking for extension of concrete sidewalk to the corner of Tenth Avenue on Victoria Street. If the council should decide to extend same from Eighth and Ninth Avenues, Mr. Putnam would undertake to guarantee that the portion of the cost of such acquisition as expected from the property holders would be secured. The council promised to give the matter consideration. Mr. Putnam also asked that the council take steps to see that any residences that may be erected in Block 8 on Victoria Street be at least of a sanitary nature.

Moved by Councillor Gillis, seconded by Councillor McLeod that 10 per cent discount be allowed on all current taxes, less supplementary revenue paid within one month after mailing of tax notices, and 5 per cent for the next following two months for the year 1921.

The following accounts were passed for payment, subject to approval by various committees: J. H. Davis $150.00, Alberta Government Telephone $425, Blairmore Hardware Co. $18.50, J. Shaffer $55.00, A. Ross $4.55, P. Ambrose $3.50, P. Bartlett $38.85, Cosmopolitan Hotel $3.00, John Davis $10.40, Canadian General Electric $57.50.

The floor bore innumerable small rings, one before each chair, each door, and the fireplace. The chairs themselves, and the sofa, were covered with gray linen slips, which, in turn, were protected by numerous squares of lace and worsted of generous size. The green silk spread on the piano was nearly hidden beneath a linen cover, and the table showed a succession of layers of silk, worsted and linen, topped by crocheted mats, on which rested several books with paper-enveloped covers. The chandelier, mirror and picture frames gleamed dimly from behind the mesh mosquito netting. Even through the doorway into the hall might be seen the long, red-bordered white linen carpet that carried protection to the carpet beneath.

"I don't like gas myself." (With a start the man was saying.) "I think it's a foolish extravagance, when kerosene is so good and so cheap. But my husband will have it, and I like it, too, in spite of what I say. — Millicent's, my daughter, I tell 'em if we were rich, it would be different, of course. But this is neither here nor there, and you came to talk about it. Now just what is it that you want?"

"I want to board here, if I may." "How long?" "A year—two years, perhaps, if we are mutually satisfied." "What do you do for a living?" Smith coughed suddenly. Before he could catch his breath to answer Benny had jumped into the breach. "He sounds something like a Congregationalist, only he ain't that, Aunt Jane, and he ain't after money for missionaries, either."

Jane Blaisdell smiled at Benny indulgently. Then she sighed and shook her head. "You know, Benny, very well, that nothing would suit Aunt Jane better than to give money to all the missionaries in the world, if she only had it to give." She sighed again as she turned to Mr. Smith. "You're working for some church, then, I take it."

"She was a slim little girl with long-lashed, star-like eyes and a wild-rope flush in her cheeks. Beneath her hair, that she kept light brown and softly over her ears, glinting into gold where the light struck it—she looked excited and happy, yet not really happy. She wore a blue dress, plainly made."

"Don't stay late. Be in before ten, dear," cautioned Mrs. Blaisdell. "And Millicent, just a minute, dear. This Mr. Smith, my sister-in-law, Jim's wife, is here now. He's coming here to live—to board, you know."

Mr. Smith, already on his feet, bowed and murmured a conventional something, and then he received a fleeting glance that made him suddenly conscious of his tiny, dark eyes, and then, on the top of his head. Then the girl was gone, and her mother was speaking again.

"She's going auto-riding with a young man, Carl Pennock. There's one of the nicest in town. They're going down to the lake for cake and ice cream, and the little nice young people, dear. I shouldn't let her go, of course. She's fifteen, for all she's so small. She favors my mother in looks, but she's not like her. You said you were writing a book about them, didn't you? You don't mean our Blaisdells, right here in Hillerton?"

"I mean all Blaisdells, wherever I find them," smiled Mr. Smith. "Dear me! What, say? You mean that he's the brother-in-law of the member of board has been satisfactorily settled. Mrs. Blaisdell apparently dared to show more interest in the book."

"You don't say! My, how pleased Hattie'll be—my sister-in-law, Jim's wife. She just loves to see her name in print—parties, and club banquets, and where she pours, you know. But maybe you don't take women, too?"

"Oh, yes, if they are Blaisdells, or have married Blaisdells."

"Oh! That's where we'd come in, then, isn't it?—Millicent and I? And Frank, my husband, he'll like it, too—if you tell about the grocery store. And of course, if you tell about that home. You'd have to—cause that's all there is to tell. He thinks that about this is the world anyway—that grocery store. And it's a good store, if I do say it. And that's his sister, Flora and Maggie."

"But, there! Poor Maggie! She won't be in it, will she, after all? She isn't a Blaisdell, and she's not a sister. Now that's too bad!"

"Hol. She won't mind. Benny spoke with conviction. "She'll just laugh and say it doesn't matter; and then Grandpa Duell'll ask for his drops or his glasses, or something, and she'll forget all about it."

"Yes, I know; but—Poor Maggie! Always just her luck. Mrs. Blaisdell sighed and looked thoughtful. "But Maggie knows a lot about the Blaisdells, she added, brightening; so she could tell you lots of things about when they were little, and all that."

"Yes. But that isn't—er—Mr. Smith hesitated doubtfully, and Mrs. Blaisdell jumped into the pause. "And really, for that matter, she knows about us now, too, better than most anybody else. Hattie's always sending for her, and Flora, too."

now, if Mell goes auto-riding with Carl, an—" "Sh-h!" So imperative was Mr. Smith's voice and gesture this time that Benny fell back subdued. At once then became distinctly audible again the voice from the other room. Mr. Smith, forced to hear in spite of himself, had the air of one who finds he has abandoned the frying pan for the fire.

"No, dear, it's quite out of the question," came from beyond the door, in Mrs. Blaisdell's voice. "I can't let you wear your pink. You will wear the blue or stay at home. Just as you choose."

"But, mother, dear, it's all out of date," wailed a young girl's voice. "I can't help that. It's perfectly whole and neat, and you must save the pink for best."

"But I'm always saving things for best, mother, and I never wear my best. I never wear a thing when it's in a style. By the time you let me wear the pink I shan't want to wear it. Sleeves! I'll be small then—you see if they aren't! I shall be wearing big ones. I want to wear big ones now, when other girls do. Please, mother, let me have it."

"Millicent, why will you tease me like this, when you know it will do no good?—when you know you can't let you do it? Don't you think I want you to be as well dressed as anybody, if we could afford it? Come, I'll suit you. You must wear the pink stay at home. What shall I tell him?"

There was a pause, then there came an inarticulate word and a choking half-sob. The next moment the door opened and Mrs. Blaisdell appeared. The pink spots in her cheeks had deepened. She shut the door firmly, then hurried through the room to the hall beyond. Another minute and she was back in her chair.

"There," she said impatiently. "I'm ready now to talk business, Mr. Smith."

She talked business. She stated plainly what she expected to do for her boarder, and what she expected in return for her. She enlarged upon the advantages and minimized the discomforts, with the ease and interest Benny.

Mr. Smith, on his part, had little to say. That that little was most satisfactory, however, was very evident; for Mrs. Blaisdell was soon quite glowing with pride and pleasure. Mr. Smith was not glowing. He was plainly ill at ease, and, at times, slightly abstracted. His eyes frequently sought the door which Mrs. Blaisdell had closed so firmly a short time before. They were still turned toward it, when suddenly the door opened and a young girl appeared.

She was a slim little girl with long-lashed, star-like eyes and a wild-rope flush in her cheeks. Beneath her hair, that she kept light brown and softly over her ears, glinting into gold where the light struck it—she looked excited and happy, yet not really happy. She wore a blue dress, plainly made."

"Don't stay late. Be in before ten, dear," cautioned Mrs. Blaisdell. "And Millicent, just a minute, dear. This Mr. Smith, my sister-in-law, Jim's wife, is here now. He's coming here to live—to board, you know."

Straining a Good Law

Contract Law in U.S. Not Consistently Enforced.

A Canadian library expert was recently deported from the United States as a "contract laborer." The young lady, while still in Canada, accepted a position offered her by the New York Public Library, went from Canada to New York, and was in the service of the library when she was brought before the immigration authorities and deported. The case has created a great deal of comment on both sides of the line, although it is by no means unique. A great many years ago, when the contract labor law of the United States was still comparatively young, an attempt was made under it to deport the Rev. D. Parker Morgan, an eminent British clergyman who had been invited to New York to accept the pulpit of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, at that time one of the fashionable places of worship in the city. Suffice it to say that the immigration authorities to cause them to overlook the "contract labor" feature of the invitation. Whether it was shown that the incumbent of a fashionable pulpit is not a laborer does not appear in the records. Other cases might be mentioned involving what strikes the man in the street as equally freakish applications of a law enforced for a very laudable purpose. — Regina Leader.

Beats An Edison Question. An insect is crawling round the outside of an orange, which has just been pitched in a westerly direction out of the window of a railway train going south at the rate of 60 miles an hour. The earth is spinning in an easterly direction at the rate of one thousand miles an hour and at the same time circling the sun at a speed of nineteen miles a second. The sun is revolving at the rate of four thousand miles an hour and moving twelve miles a second toward Hercules. Problem: What is the velocity of the bug on the orange in time and three other dimensions to Hercules? Ten minutes for the Youth's Companion.

Electrically Driven Battleship. The Washington, the third United States battleship with electric drive installation, will be launched at Camden, N.J., early in September, the U.S. navy department has announced. The Washington is a sister ship of the Maryland, which, it is expected, will be turned over to the navy early in August, and the Colorado and West Virginia, now in course of construction, all mounting 16-inch guns.

Novel Things Found In Babylonian City

Indications Show High Civilization Attained By Early Dweller.

Many valuable and interesting discoveries have been made by Dr. Hall, of the British Museum, as a result of his excavations in the neighborhood of Abraham's birthplace.

Dr. Hall's researches have led to the conclusion that the Babylonian city of Ur, from which the patriarch Abraham set forth on his wanderings, was the promised land, existed long before King Urengur repaired it 2,500 years before the Christian era.

The excavations revealed a number of copper iron heads, probably intended to be supporters of a throne. Eyes made of shell, and jasper teeth and tongue, all fastened on with copper wire, were also found. These heads were of cast copper.

To cast copper is an exceedingly difficult operation, and the accomplishment of it is an indication of the high point of civilization attained by these early dwellers of Lower Babylon.

As the heads were hollow, they were filled with bitumen, and clay to make them more durable. This fact explains most probably the enigma of the image mentioned in Daniel, which was a mixture of metal and wood.

Two wonderful columns were discovered. The trunk of these was wood, which perished long ago. They were covered with diamond-shaped scales fastened with copper wires. These scales were of red, black and white. Nothing like these columns has ever been seen before. It is an absolute novelty in archaeology.

No Conveniences In "Good Old Houses"

Modern Home Has Many Advantages Over Old Style.

Some people are fond of talking about the "good old days" and the things that went with them. Frequently they remark on the wonderful houses of the good old days, giving the impression that the houses of today are in some way vastly inferior.

This, of course, is just one of those little fallacies that no one takes the trouble to deny. But the truth is that the average person who has lived in a modern home would feel severely punished if he had to live in one of these "good old houses" with its usual ugliness of design and utter lack of the conveniences of the modern home.

With modern materials and present-day workmanship it is possible to have durability and comfort such as was not dreamed of a generation ago, and the perfecting of manufacturing processes, together with the development of many new methods in construction, has made the good things of modern building obtainable at prices that the great majority can afford.

Only those who would prefer grandmother's horse-hair-cad parlor with its drawn shades on the sun parlor and sleeping porch of the home of today have any occasion to talk about the "good old days" as far as home building is concerned.

During the high price period after the armistice, building costs went to what seemed very high levels. But at their highest, homes were real investments in comfort. Today, with material prices much lower, the home builder can be sure of real value for every dollar he invests.

American Capital Interested

Minnesota and Wisconsin Banks Buy Land in Edmonton District.

A party of Minnesota and Wisconsin bankers have been visiting Edmonton and surrounding country. Those comprising the party are: C. H. Thacker, head of the Thacker Bond and Mortgage Company, of Minneapolis, is the head of the party, and his associates are R. C. Stuart, of the Ripon State Bank, Ripon, Wis.; W. A. Loveland, of the Bank of Monticello, Monticello, Wis.; and Otto E. Born, of the Kraemer-Born Investment and Banking Company, Fond du Lac, Wis.

The interests represented by the quartette of bankers have investments of $2,000,000 in Alberta, mostly in the central and northern part of the province, and have added to their holdings during the present tour.

The Glover-Bar, East Saskatchewan, Legal and Morville districts were visited by the party and much satisfaction was expressed with the appearance of the country and the agricultural development everywhere in evidence. The report of their opinions, voiced particularly through Mr. Thacker, was that an increased flow of capital from the other side of the line might be looked for as time went on. The possibilities were considered as good, if not better, than in either of their home states.

Millions For Good Roads.

The Hon. Archie McNeil, Minister of Public Works for the province of Saskatchewan, announces that this year $2,500,000 will be spent on road making throughout Saskatchewan. The present comprehensive programme of the government with reference to road making in Saskatchewan entails the construction of 7,200 miles of new trunk roads within a three-year period, of which this is the first year.

By making your purchases from your home merchant you are contributing direct to the prosperity of the community in which you live.

The Unfortunate Rich

Children of Wealthy Parents Not As Well Nourished As The Poor.

In these days of the year when attention is specially directed to the health of children during the trying time of summer heat it is of some interest to note that in the United States it is being found that the greatest percentage of delicate children are in wealthy homes. A report made this week on a child-welfare survey of Chicago revealed that in the Easter weekend district of the northern part of the city only one child in six was below normal.

These findings bear out the representation made to the American Medical Association recently by specialists in children's diseases. "The testimony of these specialists was to the effect that there was about twice the extent of malnutrition among children of the rich than there is among the poor. The blame was assigned to the fact that in the United States it is being found that the greatest percentage of delicate children are in wealthy homes. A report made this week on a child-welfare survey of Chicago revealed that in the Easter weekend district of the northern part of the city only one child in six was below normal."

Where Strawberries Come From. Since the season opened 44 carloads of strawberries have been shipped from Okanagan, B.C., to points east and west. The fruit was carefully packed in refrigerating cars, and was moved by passenger trains. The berries are themselves perfectly satisfied with the freight service rendered by the railway companies.

Our slogan for the coming year should be, "Buy at Home." Add to your own and your neighbor's prosperity by keeping the money circulating in our own district.

You Can Prevent 40 % Annual Depreciation in Your Car, Truck or Tractor

By using a lubricant that will stop friction which is the great foe to gear life. Go into any repair shop and see the number of cars being overhauled because some owners think that all lubricants are equally good. Repair men will tell you that half of their business results from imperfect lubrication.

Whitmore's Gear Compositions are not affected by changes of temperature. They are actively fluid in the coldest weather, and are extremely hard and at high speeds they constantly preserve an indestructible film on the bearing preventing contact of metal to metal.

WHITMORE'S do not evaporate under extreme heat, the level is not reduced. Run it through a strainer and put it back in your car, truck or tractor. You can use it over and over again. One installation will last eighteen to twenty-four months where there is no leakage. Considered on an exchange basis no lubricant is so economical as Whitmore's. OTHER LUBRICANTS MAY THEY COST FIFTY CENTS A GALLON, BUT THEY COST MORE TO USE.

COST LESS PER POUND—Don't ask for a grease-ask for Whitmore's Auto Gear Protective Composition, manufactured by The Whitmore Manufacturing Co., Cleveland, Ohio.

Oil Has More Steam Than Coal. The amazing increase in the use of oil for fuel is not surprising when it is considered that, weight for weight and with proper burners, the oil gives 50 per cent more steam than coal. It is easier than coal to handle, it obviates dust and dirt, makes little smoke and no soot and can be lighted instantly and controlled absolutely.

DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY

Mr. G. H. McVagh, Mavor, Sask., writes: "About eight years ago I had a severe attack of dysentery. I was sick for three weeks. I weighed 150 lbs. when I took sick and 125 when I got it stopped. I think I tried every medicine on the market, but did not find relief until I used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and one bottle did it. I think there is nothing like it for diarrhoea or dysentery. I always keep some on hand as a person does not know when he will need it. Price 50c a bottle, put up only by The T. ## Novel Use For German Indemnity Britain May Use Her Share to Help Overseas Settlers.

The parliamentary empire development committee is considering a novel scheme of overseas development. The proposal is that part of the indemnity which Britain is to receive from Germany should be placed in a fund out of which loans would be made to suitable men and families to enable them to settle in the overseas dominions. Next December, Great Britain will receive £550,000 worth of German bonds, and the idea is that £50,000 worth of these bonds should be guaranteed by the British Government, and made the basis of advances to overseas settlers, such advances to be secured by mortgages on properties acquired and developed by the settlers.

Sentenced To Death. No Appeal Possible.

Benlheim Palace. Benlheim Palace, the residence of the Duke of Marlborough, is one of the finest in England. There are one hundred and twenty rooms in the palace and fifteen staircases. It is stated that four thousand dollars' worth of putty is required every year to keep the window panes in repair.

PALE AND NERVOUS SCHOOL CHILDREN

Need Rich, Red Blood to Regain Health and Strength.

Many children attend school in excellent health, but after a short time work, examinations, hurried meals and crowded school rooms cause their blood to become poor, their nerves over-wrought and their color and spirits lost. It is a mistake to let matters drift when boys and girls show symptoms of nervousness or weak blood. They are almost sure to fall victims of St. Vitus Dance, or drift into debility that leads to other troubles. Regular out-door exercise and development of sleep are necessary to combat the nervous wear of school life. But it is still more important that parents should pay attention to the school child's blood supply. Keep their blood red by giving Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and the boy or girl will be sturdy and fit for school. The value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of this kind is shown by the statement of Mrs. Watson, Grand Falls, N.B., who says: "In the Spring of 1919 my daughter, Thistle, then 12 years of age, began to show symptoms of nervousness and developed into St. Vitus Dance. She seemed to lose control of her limbs and at times every muscle in her body seemed to be twitching and jerking, and the trouble seemed to be growing worse. We finally decided to give her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and the result was better than we had hoped for, and she soon enjoyed the normal health of a child. You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at $2.00 a box or five boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont."

IS YOUR NOSE PLUGGED? A Tennis Frock Of Striped Silk

Have you CATARRH?

If Subject to Colds, Here is Real Good Advice.

Don't load up your stomach with cough syrups, send healing medicine through the nostrils—send it into the passages that are subject to colds and catarrh. Easy to do this with CATARRHOZONE, which helps the cold in ten minutes. Even to the lungs goes the healing vapor of Catarrhzone—all through the bronchial tubes, nostrils and air passages—everywhere a trace of disease remains will disappear. Follow: You'll not have colds, nor will you suffer from sniffles, bronchitis, or throat trouble if Catarrhzone is used. Get it today but beware of dangerous substitutes meant to deceive you for genuine Catarrhzone. Two bottles, 25c each, 50c for three, 1.00 for six, 2.00 for a dozen. Catarrhzone Co., Montreal.

Placating The Crowd. The British Government declares it is abandoning war subsidies to agriculture, which would amount to $100,000,000 or $150,000,000. But it is making a grant of $3 per acre for wheat, and $4 for oats this year, the cost of which will be between $75,000,000 and $175,000,000. This is one way of trying to placate the economy crowd.—Toronto Mail and Empire.

The worms that infest children from their birth are of two kinds, those that lead lodgement in the stomach and those that are found in the intestines. The latter are the most destructive, as they cling to the walls of the intestines and if not exterminated with work, have their Miller's Worm Powders dislodge both kinds and while expelling them from the system serve to repair the damage they have caused.

Conditions Good in Germany Are Hopeful of Paying Indemnity, Says Canadian Officer. The German people are hopeful of being able to pay their war indemnity and indications are that they will be able to do so if given time, in the opinion of Major Spencer Repl, commander of the clearing office in Canada, which is handling enemy property and reparations.

Major Repl has just returned to Ottawa after spending some time in England and Germany. In regard to conditions in Germany, Major Repl stated that he found every indication that all factories were running full blast all night and German agricultural prospects were excellent.

J. Pierpont Morgan, in discussing the question of the making of loans, reports to have said he had loaned a million dollars to a customer who had no visible assets. The money was advanced on the character and reputation of the borrower, Mr. Morgan is reported to have said:

A good character is worth more than a good bank account. Character can make a bank account, but a bank account cannot make a good character. Your character is what you build into your life through the principles for which you stand in your everyday life.

Water From the Sea Runs into the Earth and Causes Activity of Volcanoes.

One of the world's wonders which few people have ever heard is at Argostoli, in the island of Cephalonia, the largest of the seven Ionian Islands, says Tit-Bits.

The power that works the corn mills at Argostoli is derived from the sea, which rushes downwards into the land. Many millions of gallons of salt water have run down into the interior of the earth in this manner.

Experts believe that the water finds its way down through the soil, and rocks to heated areas far beneath the surface, where it becomes steam.

But where are the necessary outlets for such vast clouds of steam? The opinion is held by some that the answer to this mystery is to be found in the frequent activity of the nearest volcano.

It is supposed that the active volcanoes of Italy are the safety-valves of the enormous superheated-boiler which is turning this flowing water into the steam and gases which escape from these volcanoes. Some scientists declare that if the inflow of the sea was stopped earthquakes would be less frequent.

Work of Smugglers Amateur and Professional Smugglers Abound on the Franco-Belgian Frontier.

The Franco-Belgian frontier has long been a happy hunting ground of the smuggler, both amateur and professional. In the customs post at Lille is a collection of exhibits which give a vivid idea of the tricks employed by smugglers.

There are chairs, brushes, pitchforks, masons' hoes, widows' mourning bonnets, wheelbarrows, saws and boots, all hallowed out for stowing away tobacco. There are stacks of government papers concealing a zinc tobacco receptacle, hollow roulette wheels in which coffee was smuggled, and workmen's drinking cups with a few inches of liquor in a little vessel beneath the cork, the rest of the can being intended for tobacco.

There are numerous examples of spiked armor, spiked collars and harness furnished with a number of sharp spurs, worn by the dogs trained to dash across from Belgium at night, and thus protected against the customs dogs trained to chase them.

Orange-Outang Strong Never Travels on the Ground When He Can Swing From Tree to Tree.

The strength of the orange-outang, or "wild man," as the name means in Malay, is largely in his arms. The arms are very long, often ten feet or more from tip to tip. The mia tip, which is next in size to the gorilla, is somewhat larger than the ordinary breed. It is distinguished by a darker color and by folds of skin at each side of the neck. Its body, from shoulders to hips, is about the size of a man's. It has short, undeveloped legs, long fingers and thumbs that are mere stubs. An orange-outang never travels on the ground when he can swing from tree to tree, and, since there are very few open spaces in the jungle, he seldom reaches the ground only when he goes down to get something. He can swing incredible distances, hurtling through the air and catching branches with perfect accuracy.

A Great Forest Country. Canada has much land too rocky or too sandy to grow farm crops, but just suited to the growing of forest trees. In this land is kept in forest it will help the farmers, manufacturers, merchants and workingmen. But if the forest is destroyed, the land will become a barren desert, streams will dry up, and business and industry will be injured. The chief foe of our forests is fire. Most fires are caused by carelessness. Therefore let all who go into the forest be careful with fire.

Scissors Invented in 400 B.C. The world did without scissors, cutting cloth with a round-bladed knife, until 400 B.C., when an Italian genius invented the contrivance. Not until two or three centuries later, however, were they fitted to the fingers for convenient grasp.

For Civic Housing. The Civic Housing Commission of Winnipeg has given up to the 1st July, 160 loans, aggregating $850,000, for home building purposes. This is an increase of $500,000 over the entire building plan for last season.

Bricks Reduced In Price. The brick manufacturers of the province of Manitoba have unanimously agreed to a reduction of $150 per thousand of bricks, to take effect as from the 1st July.

9. Public health: Adequate provision for the maintenance of the health of the people as the duty of the government.

10. Prohibition: To enact and enforce such legislation for the control of the liquor traffic as the people may decide by referendum. Prohibition is an integral part of the farmers' platform and the U. F. A. will use its influence in that direction.

11. Natural resources: We stand for the immediate handing over of the natural resources by the Dominion to the province of Alberta, and the conservation and development of these for the benefit of the people.

12. That encouragement be given to co-operative efforts in the marketing and handling of products of the farm, and alone lines calculated to reduce the cost of production, distribution and living.

Several officials of the C.P.R., including Superintendent Mackintosh, of Lethbridge, were accompanied by Harry Burns and J. R. Smith to Race Horse Creek last week end, where they secured good fishing, returning Sunday evening.

A marriage of interest took place at the residence of Rev. and Mrs. Muncester, at Brags Creek near Nobleford, last week, when their daughter Mary, was united to Mr. Leo Burby. Her father performed the ceremony. Miss Muncester will be remembered by local friends who made her acquaintance during the stay of her father here as pastor of the Presbyterian church.

In the appropriately furnished room, the usual talking machine is sadly out of harmony with the beautiful music which its interior produces and makes the sensitive listener with artistic taste wish he could hear the music without having his pleasure marred by the instrument producing it being so pitifully out of time with its surroundings.

The Pathephone Cabinets are perfection in the extreme, ornamentally, adorn the room as well as cheer the listener with its finest of fine tones.

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

Mrs. Fench was a Cowley visitor on Monday.
Rev. Grey, of Beaver Mines, was a visitor to town on Wednesday.
Harry Johnson has gone to British Columbia.
Milton Robinson has returned from E. C. where he has taken an extended holiday.
Mrs. Charles Bare is on the sick list and has gone to Lethbridge for treatment.
Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Robinson are receiving congratulations on the arrival of a daughter.
Hay cutting is well under way here and the cutting of rail wheat is beginning.
Mr. Fulton, of Edmonton, is visiting with Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Morrison at present.
Miss McIvor, of Ontario, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McIvor.

The Trail Rangers, who were camping at the big camp at Lee Lake have returned and are highly elated over their holiday and the practical ideas gained while there.

We regret to say that Mrs. Hutchinson, who has been ailing for some time, left on Tuesday night in company with Mr. Hutchinson and Mrs. Joe Morgan for Drumheller, where she will consult a specialist.

The picnic held on Wednesday under the auspices of the Sunday school in Mr. Coate's grove was a decided success, the weather being ideal for the occasion. Besides the lunch, there were cake, lemonade and ice cream in abundance served free on the grounds. Old fashioned comic races were run, and comical games were played to the delight of both old and young.

A party of local friskies journeyed up the Gap to Race Horse Creek on Friday evening for a few days angling and camping. Some good catches of fish were had. One fisherman claims to have hooked a real sea lion, but was unable to land him. A photographer with the party, however, secured a couple of fine pictures of this rarity, one of which will be reproduced in these columns in the near future. Owing to the extremely hot weather, the party was of different occasions obliged to modify their wearing apparel, and we understand that a noted novelist with the party has decided to write a new profusely illustrated book entitled "Deceptions of a Bachelor." Tarsan of the Apes was with the party in stern reality and entertained in various odious manners.

"A Message To Garcia"

Some years ago the late Elbert Hubbard wrote what he himself termed "a literary trifle," entitled "A Message to Garcia." Did you ever read it? If not, get a copy and do so; it will repay you. Hubbard wrote it in an hour one evening after supper. Of this "literary trifle" he himself said: "The thing leaped hot from my heart, written after a trying day, when I had been endeavoring to train some rather unquiescent villagers to obey the commands of state and get radioactively." In the course of a few years "A Message to Garcia" was translated into every known language and over forty million copies had been printed. And its sale still continues.

The story itself is brief; it is the wonderful lesson it conveys that counts. When war broke out between the United States and Spain over Cuba, it was very necessary for the United States Government to communicate quickly with the leader of the Cuban insurgents. General Garcia was somewhere in the mountain fastnesses of Cuba—no one knew where. No mail or telegraph message could reach him. The President must secure his co-operation, and quickly. But how?

Someone said to the President, "There is a fellow by the name of Rowan who will find Garcia for you, if anybody can." Rowan was sent for and given a letter to be delivered to Garcia. The "fellow by the name of Rowan" took the letter, sealed it up in an old-fashioned package, strapped it over his heart, in four days landed by night off the coast of Cuba from an open boat, disappeared into the jungle, and in three weeks came out on the other side of the island, having traversed a hostile country on foot, and delivered his letter to Garcia.

Now the point of this story is not the bravery of the man in this risking his life, for thousands of men would unquestioningly run equal or greater risks; the point is that Rowan took the letter and did not stop to ask a multitude of questions. "Who is Garcia?" "What is the message?" "What does he look like?" "What do you want him for?" "Is there any particular hurry?" No, Rowan took the letter and started, knowing that all that was required of him was to deliver it. He had one clear-cut job to do, and he proceeded to do it.

How many of the countless millions of men and women who are employed in shops, factories, stores and offices today, yes, and on the farms, are possessed of Rowan's characteristics? How many display the same loyalty to a trust, act promptly and without questioning, concentrate their energies on the task before them; in a word, do the thing—"Carry a message to Garcia"? The regrettable fact is that not one in ten do so. Yet it does not call for any special training, or ability, but merely the exercise of will and a determination to do and win.

As Elbert Hubbard pointed out in his little booklet, General Garcia is dead now, but what if he were still alive? What if he were still to be delivered daily? No man who has endeavored to carry out an enterprise where many hands were needed, no man directing a large business, but has been well-nigh appalled at times by the inefficiency of the average man—the inability or unwillingness to concentrate on a thing; and so, slipshod assistance, foolish inattention, doleful indifference and half-hearted work seem the rule; and no man succeeds, unless by hook or crook or threat he forces or bribes others to do his work. In his goodness, God in His providence performs a miracle, and sends him an Angel of Light for an assistant.

Today the average employee is more concerned about working as few hours as he possibly can manage to get away with and still hold his job. His ambition seems to be, not to excel in his work, but to collect from his employer as large a wage as possible in return for which he gives as little as possible. If employers grant an 8-hour day, the employees of this day and generation immediately organize and combine to compel them to concede a 7-hour day, but they still want an 8-hour day wage. They insist upon the observance of all holidays, but demand to be paid just the same. If asked in an emergency to do a piece of work which ordinarily does not fall within their duties, they object, claiming they were not hired for that purpose. Fellows "by the name of Rowan" seem to be mighty scarce these days, and the lack of initiative displayed by the average employee is simply appalling, coupled with an absolute unwillingness to make his employer's interests his own.

This incapacity for independent action, this moral stupidity, this infirmity of the will, this willingness to cheerfully catch hold and lift—these are the things that put pure Socialism so far into the future and make thoughtful men and women reluctant to advance certain movements which might be mighty for the benefit of all. If men will not act for themselves, what will they do when the benefit of their effort is for all?

It is the men of the Rowan type who are getting on in the world, while these others remain the willing slaves of the "walking bosses" of the Labor Unions. In self-protection the employer is forced to constantly resort to a weeding-out process, and no matter how good times may be, the incapable and never-do-wells are out of work, having been replaced by others; and when times are hard the sorting-out process is done finer—but out and forever out of the incompetent and unworthy go.

But there is always an opening, steady employment and a bright future for men and women who can be trusted to "Carry a message to Garcia" whenever they are called upon to do so.

Will Not Encourage Immigration

Quebec Will Settle Own Young People on the Land.

"Quebec will not encourage immigration from Europe," Hon. J. E. Parent, minister of lands, stated recently. "The Provincial Government's policy will be to settle our own young people on the valuable lands of our province which are now being opened for settlement," the minister added. "By domestic colonization we believe Quebec will make greater strides forward than by bringing in strangers who are not familiar with farming conditions in this country."

Salmon Catch Smaller

Bad Weather Hinders the Fishermen On the B.C. Coast.

Major Motherhead and Inspector Williams have completed an inspection of Fisheries District No. 2 from Smith's Inlet to Prince Rupert, including the Skeena River. They report that the sockeye catch this year is smaller than usual, due doubtless to the bad weather in Rivers inlet and Smith's inlet. The pack is approximately 7,500 cases at Bella Coola and Kimsquit. On the Skeena, the total pack so far is only about 6,000 cases, which is very poor, but the run is improving. The Naas pack is approximately 6,000 cases.

Alberta Highways

Alberta Link of the Trans-Canadian Road Will Be Completed This Year.

Huge sums of money are being spent in road construction in Alberta this season. The Alberta link of the trans-Canadian road will be completed this year. The greater part of the road work in the province this season has been in the construction and repairing of the trunk road, but next year branch and district roads are to receive the most attention, and by 1923 it is expected that the province will have a network of highways that will be second to none on the American continent.

The Alberta Government is being assisted in the construction of the trunk roads by a grant of forty per cent of the cost of these roads which the Dominion Government is making, provided the work reaches a certain standard which the Dominion Government has set.

The Man Who Works Hard Should Follow This Advice

Persistence and will power he should have, but whether he has strength and vigor is another question. Hard working men often have headaches and suffer from bilious fits. Dr. Magill Does Not Anticipate Difficulties From U.S. Tariff.

Dr. Magill, secretary of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, interviewed at Ottawa was of the opinion that there will be no difficulty in marketing the western wheat crop, despite the United States tariff. Dr. Magill intimated that English buyers are already in the market for vast quantities of Canadian grain, and that the United States will have to buy large quantities in any event.

The summer months are the most dangerous to children. The complaints of that season, which are cholera infantum, colic, diarrhoea and dysentery, come on so quickly that often a little one is beyond aid before the mother realizes he is ill. Do other mothers in olden times and mothers during hot weather use Dr. Williams' Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the stomach and bowels and are absolutely safe. ### Read The Advertisements

Make Your Purchases From Your Merchants and Help Stimulate Business.

The publishers of this paper draw your attention to the advertising columns, and particularly to the advertisements of the local merchants. These merchants have invested their money in goods to satisfy the needs and desires of us all.

Their enterprise is a distinct service to our community. For this reason we should buy from them to the best of our ability and in so far as our needs and judgment of value dictates. Then, too, the general commodities advertised in our columns are worthy of consideration. It is desirable that readers should ask merchants to supply advertised goods wherever possible. By doing so the cycle of trade is kept alive and inter-community commerce stimulated. We repeat read the advertisements.

Apple Crop Expected To Be Huge.

Everything points to a record apple crop in British Columbia this year, and, if nothing unforeseen happens, the prairie markets are assured of a good supply of high-grade apples, according to J. A. Grant, British Columbia fruit commissioner for Alberta. His fruit estimates that 5,000 cars of apples will be shipped out of British Columbia this year, which is an increase of nearly 100 per cent. over last year's output.

Sauces For Food

BY LORETTO C. LYNCH
An Acknowledged Expert In All Matters Pertaining to Household Management.

If you have the very best and choicest of foods, you may not need to know much about sauces, but sauce is the making of less expensive cuts of meat and other foods, and people frequently prefer cuts of beef with its delicious brown sauce to the more expensive saucier portions.

If the general proportions of the basic sauce is committed to memory, one may gain a decided reputation as a maker of sauces by adding one's own individual touch. All measurements are to be taken level and a standard half-pint cup is to be used.

Basic Recipe For Sauce.

Two tablespoons of fat—2 tablespoons of flour; 1 cup liquid.

The fat may be butter or any of the vegetable fats or the dripping of a roast. The liquid may be either stock (water in which meat or fish or vegetable was cooked), or strained tomato or milk or water. If salt is to be used, generally one-fourth teaspoon is sufficient for one cup of liquid.

There are several ways of putting the ingredients for a sauce together. The fat may be melted slowly in a pan and the flour added and cooked until the mixture is frothy throughout. The cold liquid is then added and stirred constantly and vigorously until the mixture is smooth, thick and boiling.

Sauce may also be made in a double boiler. This is especially desirable when time is no object and when milk, which scorches easily, is used as the liquid. In this case the fat is melted in the top of the boiler and a cream and the flour is then beaten into it. The milk is added and the sauce is stirred over hot water until thick and smooth.

Drawn Butter.

Melt two tablespoons of fat in a pan and add to it two tablespoons of flour and one-fourth of a teaspoon each of salt and pepper. Cook until thick and add one cup of cold water. Cook, stirring until thick. Then gradually add about two tablespoons of butter, bit by bit, until it is absorbed. If the sauce is at all lumpy, strain it.

Caper Sauce.

Make a cup of drawn butter, using the broth from boiled lamb or mutton for the liquid. When ready to serve add two tablespoons of capers drained from the liquid in the bottle. A teaspoon of lemon juice may be added if desired. A similar quantity of finely chopped sour pickle may be substituted for the capers.

Egg Sauce.

To a cup of brown butter add a hard-cooked egg, chopped. This sauce is good for serving with boiled fish.

Makes Breathing Easy. The constriction of the air passages and the struggle for breath, too familiar evidence of asthmatic trouble, cannot doubt Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy. It is not untidy, experimental preparation, but, with many years of strong service behind it. Buy it from your nearest dealer.

Match-Making at Nelson

Soft White Pine of the Kootenays is Found Suitable for Making Matches.

Very apparently, the soft white pine of the Kootenays has recommended itself strongly to the match-making industry as suitable material for matches. Following the recent announcement of steps being taken to start making matches at Nelson, a second industry, similar to but entirely independent of the first, has been launched at the inland city. This is a plant for turning out "match blocks" to be shipped east where various match factories will buy the material for turning out matches. It is said that by the end of July this second plant will be in operation at Nelson, giving employment to from thirty to forty operatives. W. W. Powell, formerly of Spokane, is the principal in the new industry and he estimates that he will be shipping about a car a day of the product to the eastern market.

Filming "The Conflict"

The Universal Film Company of Los Angeles, Cal., are working at Bull River, near Lake Windermere, B.C., filming a picture based upon the celebrated novel, "The Conflict." There are 125 members in the party, and the work is expected to occupy two months, at a production cost estimated at $30,000.

Her Improvement Is Now Talk Of Friends Says Toronto Woman

"Tanlac has certainly had a good change in my case to show what it can do, for I surely had a long, hard struggle and had just about tried everything," said Mrs. Mary Richards, 251 Ashdale Ave., Toronto.

"I have been in a badly run-down condition ever since I had pneumonia six years ago. My stomach was nearly always out of order. My appetite was very poor and I had to be very careful about what I ate, as I suffered terribly from indigestion, bronchitis and pains in my chest. My sleep was never sound and I had a tired, worn-out feeling all the time. I had dreadful headaches and weak spells and had fallen off in weight until I was scarcely more than a shadow of my former self, and I was absolutely unfit for work of any kind.

"But Tanlac has done me a world of good. My stomach is in fine condition now and I eat all I want and everything agrees with me perfectly. All my aches and pains are a thing of the past and I'm stronger than I've been in a long time. In fact, Tanlac has the same as made a new person of me, for I can do my housework with ease and my friends are talking about the wonderful change that has come over me. I don't believe anyone who suffers as I did can do better than take Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

What It Costs To Make Shoes

Labor Averages Only One Dollar A Pair.

If shoe workers worked for nothing it would not affect the price of boots and shoes more than a dollar a pair.

This is the answer of General Organizer E. W. O'Dell, of the Boot and Shoe Workers' Union, to the charge that labor costs were preventing a reduction in the price of shoes and boots.

"The average labor cost in a pair of boots or shoes is no more than a dollar, the maximum being $1.25 in a $16 pair," he said.

Nelson's Ship In Danger Of Sinking

Steel Casing Around Hull Would Keep Victory Afloat.

Nelson's old flagship, the Victory, is likely to sink at her moorings in Portsmouth Harbor, said the Marquis of Milford Haven at the meeting of the Society of Nautical Research.

It was suggested, he added, that a cement or steel casing round the hull might be made, and as the Admiralty has no funds available, something would have to be done by public help.

Reducing Strength of Forces.

Canada is reducing the strength of her permanent force by ten per cent. This is officially announced by the militia department. This step, taken on the ground of economy, will mean there being a maximum of 3,600 officers and men against 4,000 as hitherto. Commanding officers were instructed to select those for discharge who will suffer the least hardship.

For Sale in Winnipeg.

The third successful Winnipeg auction fair sale took place on the 5th July, when 25,000 pelts were disposed of to 500 buyers from various large United States cities. The fur was sold in 413 lots, and a low estimate of the aggregate value is over $500,000.

The patriotic man is loyal to his country and to the community in which he lives. If he is consistent he will give first preference to Canadian made goods when making purchases. He will also stand loyal by his local dealer.

Sores Heal Quickly.—Have you a persistent sore that refuses to heal? Buy Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil in the dressing. It will stop sloughing, carry away the proud flesh, draw out the pus and prepare a clean way for the new skin. It is a recognized healer among oils and numbers of people can certify that it healed where properly applied.

The Governor of Idaho, U.S.A., and Mr. W. G. Swanson, of the Idaho Reclamation Commission, have just had an interview with the Premier of British Columbia and Hon. John T. ### Sending Photos By Phone

One of the Latest Marvels of Science Now in Use.

The machine recently perfected for transmitting photographic records over telephone wires is to be used by the police departments in Europe for sending finger-prints of suspected criminals. By this means, when a man is arrested in Paris, for instance, it will be possible simultaneously to dispatch his finger-prints to London, Rome and other cities and ask the police for any details they may have regarding previous convictions.

Britain Will Continue Her Policy Of Replacing Obsolete Capital Ships

London.—Mr. Lloyd George declared in the House of Commons that it was essential for the Government to proceed with its policy of replacing obsolete capital ships of the navy.

Mr. Lloyd George made this declaration in answer to questions concerning the Government's naval programme.

The necessity for replacing obsolete ships, the Prime Minister said, would not be affected by the forthcoming conference on disarmament in Washington, which he assumed "will be a complete success."

The Prime Minister was speaking concerning the four capital ships provided for in the naval estimates. He was asked if the Government would not suspend work on capital ships pending the outcome of the Washington conference.

Mr. Lloyd George said the Government, in replacing obsolete ships, neither committed itself to nor contemplated any extensive programme in answer to that of any other power. As a result of candid discussions with the principal naval powers, the Prime Minister declared, it might be possible to avoid anything in the nature of competitive building, but he said it would be a dereliction of duty on the part of the admiralty to allow the efficiency and morale of the Royal Navy to deteriorate from neglect and not to provide it with material equal to the best and in which full confidence could be reposed.

Bodies Of Fallen Soldiers Removed

Claim Many Canadian Graves in France and Flanders Are Empty.

London.—The Daily Express makes a sensational statement respecting Canadian bodies on the battlefields of France and Belgium. According to this paper, one of the startling allegations made by a responsible Canadian Government official working on the War Graves Commission is re-intering the dead, is that "many graves in the Great War cemeteries of Flanders and France marked with the names of fallen soldiers are in fact empty of remains."

The Canadian official declared to the Daily Express representative: "There is a cemetery at Hooze, which has a whole line of empty graves, although each is marked with a cross and relatives and friends of the fallen have actually been in the cemetery when graves have been opened and found nothing. Their distress has been beyond imagination."

This officer says there appears to be a lack of supervision of the general work and in-poor he relates how a wealthy Canadian from the West, on being denied the removal of his son from a cemetery in Flanders, managed to get two men to dig up the body at midnight and the remains were shipped across the Atlantic from Antwerp. One of the men engaged is understood to have been concerned in other cases of removal.

Earl Haig Not Coming to Canada. Vancouver.—The "Old Contemptibles," of Vancouver, members of the famous band who held the Germans in check at Mons and the Marne, are in receipt of a letter from Field Marshal Earl Haig stating that he does not expect to visit Canada this year. This letter was in answer to an invitation from the club. He has just returned from Africa, Earl Haig told the "Contemptibles" and does not wish to resume his travels again until 1922.

Irish Peace Prospects

Financial Terms May Break New Ground In Negotiations.

Dublin.—Although Mr. de Valera has been unable to accept the terms of the British settlement, there is no immediate apprehension of rupture of the truce. It was recognized from the beginning that Mr. de Valera, as the spokesman of the republican idea, could not waive its principle, and the most that was hoped was that he might receive an offer worthy of consideration and debate.

But only a really big offer, it is declared, would justify the assembly of the Dail Eireann, and such a statement to the Irish people. On good authority it may be stated that the financial terms of the British offer broke new ground and apparently are designed to induce Belfast to reconsider its attitude towards a united Ireland.

It is decided to reject the terms without consulting the "republican parliament" officially, Mr. de Valera is expected to issue immediately a statement to the Irish people. On good authority it may be stated that the financial terms of the British offer broke new ground and apparently are designed to induce Belfast to reconsider its attitude towards a united Ireland.

World's Grain Stocks Low

Strong Demand For Wheat Supplies The World Over.

Winnipeg.—G. W. Terry, of the London Corn Exchange, and a big grain buyer, stated in an interview with a local newspaper that the stocks of wheat held by the British Government will be all sold out by the middle of next month. "There is so little grain in Great Britain and Europe," he stated, "that you may say there are no stocks held there. Every wheat producing country in the world is below its normal requirements." Mr. Terry asserted.

When he left London, Mr. Terry said Germany was making a big bid to buy all her wheat in the Argentine. Mr. Terry, after drawing a gloomy picture of depleted stocks in every country in Europe, said that these countries must do without grain. If the price is not within their means and those countries which have the crops must get along without being able to sell them. "Of course, they always are sold, for the prices become self-adjusted, as it were," he added. Mr. Terry is touring Canada and the United States on a grain purchasing expedition.

Tubercular Cattle Destroyed. Hamilton, Ont.—Scores of valuable thoroughbred cattle have been slaughtered in Wentworth County in the past few days, following inspections by government inspectors for tubercular trouble. ## Winnipeg Housing Scheme

Winnipeg.—The city of Winnipeg under the post-war housing relief fund will have advanced a total of $1,435,000 for construction of 356 dwellings when the 1921 building season comes to an end November 1, a representative of the housing commission announced. Most of the dwellings will be occupied by regularly constituted taxpayers of the city. The houses are constructed according to standard specifications and are inspected carefully while under construction.

McMillan Expedition To North

Hope To Winter In Latitude Where No Boat Has Been For Hundred Years.

Halifax.—"We hope to winter in Fury and Hecla Straits, seventy degrees north latitude where no ship has been for one hundred years," said Prof. Donald B. MacMillan, in an interview on board his expedition ship Bowdoin, en route to the far north to explore one thousand miles of unknown coast line on the western shores of Baffinland.

The Bowdoin stated Prof. MacMillan, is one of the smallest ships that have ever travelled north. The last expedition was made by Captain Parry, a British naval officer, who was in search of a northwest passage. His men went down with scurvy and his two ships, the Fury and the Hecla, whose names were given the straits they discovered, were forced to return to England. No ship has ever been through the Fury and Hecla straits and the Bowdoin was built smaller in order to navigate them.

To Prosecute Income-Tax Defaulters

Many Have Not Complied With Law In Making Necessary Returns.

Ottawa.—Extensive prosecutions all over the country are about to be instituted by the taxation branch of the finance department against those who have failed to make returns of income as provided by the Income Tax Act. While the number making returns this year is very much greater, than before, and with much less suspicion of fraud and concealment, there are thousands who have not complied with the act at all, and evidently plan to escape the taxation which applies to all with income in excess of the statutory exemption.

The department, having returns from employers, has a good idea of those who are assessable, and it is not a difficult proposition to check and see if they have made returns. There are others who are not employed by companies or firms, but rather are in business for themselves or living in case and it is not hard to get at this class either. The prosecutions for false returns initiated last year have had a salutary effect and have led to a greater accuracy. This year there are comparatively few cases of this score, but a great number who have ignored the law completely. The penalty is $25 for each day of default.

Census Work Nearly Finished

Ottawa.—While the great bulk of Canada's population census has now been taken, no definite figures may be published for another month, and it may be November before the population for the Dominion is officially announced. In the meantime much has to be done in the way of revision. The census branch is receiving a large number of reports from individuals who complain of having been overlooked.

Oilfields On Fire

Fire Is Raging in the Amatlan, Mexico.

Mexico City.—The Amatlan oil fields are on fire, with drilling towers falling like chaff and the workmen fleeing, according to reports received here describing the greatest catastrophe in the history of the world's oilfields. The cause of the fire is not known.

Financial losses cannot be estimated, say the advisers, which add that the conflagration dwarfs into insignificance the Pordiro Del Llano conflagration.

Columns of fire hundreds of feet high are covering the field, it is declared, which is hundreds of acres in extent, and efforts to suppress the blaze are said to be considered hopeless.

More Work In Railway Shops

Increased Hours of Work Effecting Many Returns in Winnipeg Shops.

Winnipeg.—An increase from 24 to 36 hours a week affecting nearly 6,000 men employed in car, locomotive and repair shops in Western Canada by the Canadian National Railways was announced here. The new hours go into effect immediately. The reduced hours have been in force during the last six months.

The Canadian Pacific Railway shops are now working a straight five days a week with the expectation that they will go on full time next month.

Early Days In The Hudson's Bay Service

By O-G-E-MAS-ES (Little Clerk).

Stopping for a few minutes in the lee of the land we held another council. The wind had increased and white caps were beginning to show on the lake, also the wind which had been fair would now be on our broadside and the boat was light. Then again to weather the point our course must be south in place of east. After some discussion I decided to go on, and we placed a few stones in the bow of the boat for ballast. Then, putting two reefs in the sail, we sailed out close-hauled and found, alas, we made some leeway, there being not enough cargo on board to trim her properly. Still, by shifting the passengers midships and I in the bow, the boat at the sheet, old Antoine sniffing, we thought though a little enough, if the wind held steady we could make it. I forgot to mention that we had unshipped the big sweep in the morning and were now steering by rudder.

Occasionally spray would break over the boat and this seemed to excite our Scotchman who got his arm twisted in the sheet and nearly went overboard. I sat him down rather roughly on the thwart and told him not to stir, but when I went forward, hearing a shout from the boy, he was at the sheet again and within an acre of going over the side. We lost some ground here as Antoine was watching the antics of our looney; so yelling to keep her up to the wind, I fetched Mr. Scotty a crack on the head with a spare tiller, and down he went, quiet enough. This alarmed the little girls and they began to cry; also they were seasick as the wind was getting heavier, at times the boat showing half her keel. We were nearing the end of the point and the surf was breaking over the rocks to some distance out. It was an anxious time for me, and I told Antoine and the boy to take a child apiece if we struck, and I would help the wife and baby, or rather youngest child who was about six, I should think. The Scot would have to help himself, as he was now sitting in the bottom of the boat looking very stupid. Then stretching along the bow I watched keenly for rocks, a wave of the hand guiding the steersman. For twenty minutes we were in considerable danger and the noise of the surf was deafening. One could have chucked a biscuit on the rocks from the boat, and old Antoine said it was only our light drifter saved us. Round the point we went into a beautiful little bay, the shores of which were lined with cedar (the only place they show in the whole course of the river) and landing, the whole party had a good rest and wash, even Scotty behaving more rationally than usual.

It was now again fair wind and shaking the reefs out of our sail away we went for Grand Rapids, the wind blowing half a gale behind us. Never was better time made and, across the lake, though six miles in width, was crossed in a few minutes. Then on we went, tearing for the head of Grand Rapids itself where the upper post was situated. I could recognize the tall form of my friend and mentor, Alex. Matheson, anxiously pacing the shore and staring at our boat which was coming along at a tremendous speed, favored both by wind and current. He was at that time in charge of all steamboat transport. Antoine held her well and we kept full sail up to the last minute, then dropped the yard and ran the bow of the old boat a foot into the bank. Poor Matheson was shaking his head and saying, "Ah, Lord B. (his nickname for me), I was sure it was you, no one else could be reckless enough to run those rapids under full sail!"

Glad I was to land my party, and I expect the trip would linger long in the memory of Mrs. Missionary and her little girls. Fortunately the Str. Colwill was not expected until next day so we had plenty of time to recover from the effects of our journey.

For the information of modern readers I might state the Grand Rapids are situated at the mouth of the Saskatchewan River where it enters Lake Winnipeg. There is a continuous rapid for several miles, in which there are three drops of our journey. The rapids can be run easily by experienced hands, and accidents can happen just as easily when the passage is undertaken by tenderfeet. The Hudson's Bay Company had two of their best river steamers hauled up these rapids by the help of many men and the nigger engines on the boats. These were the Nor-West and the Northcoast. The Marquis was the largest boat, but rather too heavy for the river. A steel steamer called the Lily was tried for the navigation of the South Branch, but grieved a failure. She was modelled on the plan of the African and Indian River boats, but did not work out on western rivers.

A steel tramway was laid by the H. B. Co. across the Portage and mule power was used to transport the freight from the lower warehouse to the large establishment at the head of the rapids. This still remains, but I believe is no longer used.

Myself and passengers all went aboard the Colwill next day, and the poor Scotch laddie, after a medical examination, was sent to the asylum for a few months. After seven years in the west I had been granted a year's furlough, and accompanied the valuable cargo of furs as far as St. Paul, these having come in by our steamer. We ascended the Red River by steamer, there by train to St. Paul. Taking a receipt for the furs I booked by the lake route east, sailing for Duluth and thence by water through the great lakes, down the rapids of the St. Lawrence out in the gulf to Gaspe Basin, where my people were living at that time.

To Build Houses For Workmen.

Montreal.—Work is immediately to be begun in the city of a programme that calls for 1,500 substantial brick houses for workmen.

British and Dominion Premiers To Confer on Disarmament

Meeting in London May Postpone Indefinitely Return of Premier Meighen to Canada.

London.—It is believed that the idea of holding a preliminary disarmament conference was originally proposed by Wm. Morris Hughes, premier of Australia, and Wm. F. Massey, premier of New Zealand, who will be unable to go to the United States during the autumn owing to the convening of their respective parliaments. A London conference is supposed also to have been strongly favored by Japan.

Instead of the proposed preliminary conference, there will be held here a conference between the British cabinet ministers and the Dominion premiers. For this purpose, Premier Meighen of Canada has postponed indefinitely his idea of sailing for home.

This conference will be devoted first to a discussion of the policy and representation of the British Empire at the Washington conference, and second, to the advisability of asking the Washington Government to postpone the disarmament and Pacific conference to some later date than Nov. 11.

Such a postponement would not only be agreeable to the Dominion premiers, who will be unable to be in Washington in November, but it would be convenient to the British Government because, in the event of a conference between the British cabinet ministers and the Dominion premiers, it might become necessary to hold an autumn session of parliament to legislate for a new Irish settlement.
